

The St. Petersburg School of Economics and Management, National Research University Higher School of Economics (HSE SEM) invites you to submit your research proposals and papers in the format of abstracts for the fourth edition of its international scientific event "Analytics for Management and Economics Conference" (AMEC 2021)

AMEC 2021 is designed to enable the faculties to present research and receive valuable feedback from leading scientists in the field of management, finance and economics. AMEC 2021 provides a unique convergence of networking, learning, inspiring keynote speeches, discussions and industry-academia conversations. For students and young researchers it is a great opportunity to listen to quality presentations from professional speakers. The conference encourages active discussion of acute issues, trends and pressing problems with the main focus on quantitative methods.

The COVID-19 pandemic has made the changes to the usual conference format. Adapting to new realities - this year AMEC 2021 will be held online. AMEC 2021 will be held from September to November in Zoom. Sessions are planned on Wednesdays from 15:00 to 17:00 (19:30 if the track involves a large number of reports).

The conference welcomes faculty, graduate students, undergraduates and bachelors, as well as researchers who wish to present their papers. Participation in the conference is free but all participants must register on our website.
